Visual UX Designer

Locatie Drenthe, Zandpol
https://www.advertentiex.nl/x-981571-z

Visual UX DesignerAdding value to our user experience by designing simple, uncomplicated and easy to use visual interfaces.What will your job be like as Visual UX Designer?At Océ, Visual Designers have the responsibility for the GUI designs in our products. They create an attractive and unified user experience that delivers a seamless flow to our customers and users. The Visual UX Designer helps the user to successfully use our products by incorporating a consistent UI style.You work intensively with Interaction Designers on the development of concepts for the user interfaces of our software products and devices. You create appealing graphics, dynamic transitions and translate designs into a style guide or a specification. Moreover, you make sure all concepts are aligned over all products and devices. Together with developers you check your designs are correctly implemented and are within the technical constraints.You are sensitive to 'the latest and greatest' in the world, translating trends into an inspiring vision for future development of visualizations and user experience. You are able to push the visual style forward and create patterns within brand standards.Responsibilities
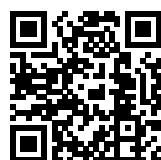

Design digital products and create, together with your peers, a unique Design SystemCreate innovative and engaging productsTranslate trends into functional conceptsDeliver a seamless flow to our customers and usersHelp our users to successfully use our products via color, iconography, typography, etc.Make sure your designs are correctly implementedCommunicate and present effectively in a multi-disciplinary team

Who are we looking for?

Bachelor or Master degree in a relevant field with focus on Visual User Experience design (e.g., interaction design, industrial design, service design or visual communication)5 years of relevant experienceProficient with industry standard design tools (e.g. Adobe Illustrator, Adobe XD or Sketch, Axure)Eye for detailFamiliar with technical constraints and principles within web development (e.g. CSS)A feel for responsive design, dynamic transitionsFamiliarity with agile processes is a plusExcellent personal skills: Good team player, entrepreneur, striver for quality, motivated to set the process rightAbility to deal with uncertainty and complexityStrong communication skills and ability to work in cross-functional teamsFluent in English, verbal and written. Profound knowledge of Dutch is a plusEligible to work in the NetherlandsAvailable for 32-40 hours per week

What can we offer?We offer you a job in an open and creative environment within an international organization, where you work with other designers and developers on usability and interaction for products and devices. Your contribution is essential for building an appealing user experience and you work on a variety of projects within product development.And there is more….Besides a challenging working environment scope for personal and professional development you will receive an interesting package of employment conditions:

a salary in line with current market standards38 days leavetravel allowancea laptop and a smartphone13th month and 8% holiday payextensive schooling and development opportunities

Context of the positionThe Océ Design Team (20 professionals) is located in Venlo, but partners with all Océ R&D sites worldwide. Our goal is to create one unified user experience for all Océ solutions: hardware, software as well as services. The focus of the team is on: user profiling, interaction design, visual UX design, product design, prototyping, and design validation.Interested?You can apply directly via the 'apply now' button on this page. For more information about this position please contact Rick van Gool, Recruiter,+31 6 25700897 or rick.vangool@oce.comAgency calls are not appreciated.Océ is a global leader in digital imaging, industrial printing and collaborative business services. Océ's mission is to accelerate new digital print technologies and transform them into local printing products and services for blue-chip multinationals around the globe and creative studios around the corner. A Canon Group Company, Océ operates a vast global network of R&D centres to connect emerging digital print technologies to future.