Comes with a HDMI cable, power cable with charging brick and the full stand. Good for casual gaming and work. Screen has a very good color contrast and provides super wide viewing angles, so you can see your screen from the sides and also has little glare when the sun shines on it. Has a very good screen to body ratio with a sleek and ultra narrow top and side bezels. Also has a control knob at the middle bottom of the back of the screen for adjusting response times and adjusting color.

In good condition, has been used for little under 5 months, and has been dusty because of little usage in the past few months. Unfortunately, the original packaging is damaged and can no longer be used for packaging the monitor. If you do come to pick it up, you can just pick up the monitor as is with the 2 cables and brick. The monitor alone is relatively light and.
