The Apple Cinema Display (ADC) was introduced in 2000 to complement the Apple G4 macintosh line. It features a 22-inch "letterbox" format (1600x1024) active-matrix LCD display and an integrated two port USB hub.

A DVI to ADC Adapter (Model number A1006) is also included for use with later Macs that have DVI ports.

The monitor is in good working condition. I do not have the boxes.
