Sirtaki is a traditional sailing boat converted in 2010 from a Dutch tug (1936). It is a strong, exciting sailing boat and motor sailer, now in Kilada (Greece). It was the favorite of my father, complete of all that is necessary for long journeys in strong seas, with a traditional arm and roughing as he loved it. It has two masts and a bowsprit (including it the total length is 23mt). The boat is divided into 6 watertight compartments. Air draft: 20mt. Draft 2.4mt. Cruise arm: 4 sails. It is possible to mount a further sail of 100m². Two generators. Two anchors, 170 and 150kg, with 100m chain each. Fuel tank: 2000lt. Water tank: 24000lt. Engine: Detroit Allison 8V71, 9300cc. Sails surface: 137 m². Made in Holland, completely renewed and transformed in a sailing boat in 2010. Width: 4.88m. Weight:.
