? Graphic design: thanks to the high resolution and color reproduction, this monitor is suitable for photo and video editing.

? Watch movies and series in high image quality, thanks to the WQHD resolution and speakers The LG 38WK95C-W Ultrawide HDR monitor is a curved monitor that supports HDR 10 and 99% of the sRGB color spectrum. With HDR, a monitor displays brighter whites and darker blacks compared to conventional displays. HDR builds up the dark and bright areas of the image with much more detail. Compared to a TN panel, the IPS panel has two major advantages: a better viewing angle and an accurate color reproduction. Ultrawide monitor is the term used for a monitor with a 21:9 ratio. The higher resolution creates a very clear image with more workspace, ideal for use as a gaming monitor. but also certainly for the office. These displays have a full screen display of content, making it easy to multitask. This monitor also has a USB-C connection, which can also serve as a docking station. Image transfer, data transfer and power supply run simultaneously via the USB-C connection. This means you don't even need a charger anymore.

This monitor is height adjustable and tiltable. It also has 10W speakers. Type of connections:

- HDMI (2.0x2)
- Display port (1.2)
- USB-C
- Headphone output
- USB Downstream
