Evondos Group is Europe's leading provider of automated medication dispensing services. Evondos' unique medication dispensing service offers significant quality and cost benefits to professional home care organizations and helps societies to provide home care with effective use of resources. The service ensures that home care clients receive the correct medication at the right time and in the appropriate dosage automatically, improving medication management quality and supporting independent living at home. In early 2023, Evondos joined forces with Medido, a Dutch provider of medication dispensing services. Evondos Group employs today a total of 300 professionals in the Nordic countries and the Netherlands, serving tens of thousands of users daily. The headquarters of Evondos Group is located in Helsinki with production operations in Salo and other offices in Den Haag, Oslo and Uppsala. Main owner of the group is Verdane, the specialist Northern European growth equity investor.

Do you want to join the winning team, where you feel proud of our mission to support elderly people to live independent life at home? We are looking for an IT Director to join our growth journey!

IT Director will be a new role in the Evondos group with the main objective to develop a modern IT environment for the entire Evondos group, including subsidiaries, and leading a team of internal and external system administrators and consultants. IT Director will lead and manage the company's Information Systems landscape on a strategic and tactical level. The position holder will be responsible for developing and implementing an IT strategy that aligns with the Evondos Group overall strategy and business, ensuring that our IT systems, policies and data are reliable, secure, and compliant with GDPR,

ISO 27001, MDR, and ISO 13485 standards.

We are looking for a goal-oriented IT professional who has several years of experience on a senior level, preferably in the international environment. The IT Director will show a hands-on approach in leading the company's IT team and projects. As our business expands, the role will grow with it. IT Director will work in Evondos offices in Helsinki, Salo or Den Haag with partial remote work possibility. Role requires occasional travelling in the Nordic and in the Netherlands. IT Director reports to the Head of Business Operations Development. Main responsibilities
