We offer a job position as a machine operator in the field of pre-processing at our rubber manufacturing company. If you have experience in pre-processing, a passion for technology, and would like to join an enthusiastic team in our family-owned company, this could be the perfect role for you!

Bedrijfsomschrijving

As an operator in our team, you will have the opportunity to expand your technical knowledge and skills in the rubber industry. Our company provides advanced technological solutions for molded rubber products and rubber-metal compounds. Since 1955, we have been an international specialist and manufacturing company, employing nearly 200 experienced workers, equipped with modern research facilities, and engaged in innovative research and development.

If you are ready to take on the challenge and join our dynamic company, we look forward to receiving your application!

Functieomschrijving

In this diverse role as a machine operator, you will be responsible for setting up and configuring machines. You will oversee the processing and manufacturing of products, ensuring they meet our quality standards. As an operator, you will conduct product inspections to ensure compliance. You will work both independently and as part of a team, with support from our production coordinator and quality control staff.
