Selling my 2008 GSXR 600 as I'm moving on up to a liter bike next season.

Bike is mechanically flawless and cosmetically about as clean as a 2008 can get.

Mods include:

- GPR Racing slip-on exhaust with no muffler/catalytic converter. Straight up sounds like a WSBK race bike
- Black adjustable shorty levers both brake and clutch
- Gold DID chain and sprocket kit, +3 teeth in the rear sprocket, -1 in the front which results in a VERY noticeable acceleration boost. Will gap any stock 600 off the line.
- Carbon fiber clutch case and engine covers.
- Oxford paddock stand bobbins front and back for easy servicing
- Tiny, flush-mounted plate holder
- Brand new rear tire (sport, 2 compound)

Some minor cons are the mirrors need to be tightened down which is an easy job, and the speedometer has been inaccurate since I installed the new sprockets but that's also easily rectified at any bike shop.

I got 2 brand new sintered brake pads for this bike that you can also take for free since I won't be needing them, as well as the rear seat
