I'm selling my Lenovo Laptop cause I bought another laptop after maybe 4 years of using it. It still works, but it definitely has some issues. One of the most annoying issue is the battery life. This on a full charge is doesn't last long, maybe an hour without battery saving mode and maybe one and a half hours with it on. Furthermore, start up is kinda slow and glitches sometimes that you have to force power off then turn it back on for it to work. I spent last year around 650 euros to fix the keyboard and change the harddrive, however it started to not automatically starting up again. Also, the speakers doesn't work, but the jackport does! Besides these annoyances, the laptop works fine. I mainly used it for university work. Also, it will come in its original box with its original adapter. Anymore questions feel free to!
