Originally bought this computer monitor for €479.00 from Bol. Selling for €249.

I'm selling my apartment in Amsterdam, so everything I own must go! Check my profile for more items.

Product description

The LG 27UL850 is a modern 27" monitor that is ideal for productivity and relaxation. The 27UL850 from LG has a USB-C connection: ideal for your Macbook or Windows laptop. This allows you to work simultaneously in 4K resolution, transfer data and charge your laptop or other mobile device with 60W with just one cable. In addition, you can use the monitor perfectly for your (home) office thanks to built-in speakers and a height-adjustable foot. The color reproduction is slightly nicer than comparable models in this segment, thanks to HDR400 support and the preset color calibration. With a 99% sRGB color coverage and the IPS panel, you have a monitor with realistic and natural colors. Handy if you place the monitor in a room with a lot of light, since you always have a good image and benefit from wide viewing angles.

Suitable for hardware calibration The UL850 comes with LG's True Color Pro software. With this software you can set the color performance completely to your liking through hardware calibration. This also allows you to get the most out of the wide color spectrum that this monitor supports and make full use of the 4K

IPS panel. Ideal for graphic designers who are often involved in graphic design, photo and video editing. Time-wasting? Start here! The LG Display's supports the sRGB and has a wide range of customisable display settings set for gaming. This allows you to quickly and easily select a setting of your shooters and FPS games. You can manually adjust the settings to your liking. In addition, the LG L850 has the power of a laser illuminator, so images are sharper (Bright Booster), allowing you to spot details faster!
