Pioneer DEQ-P6600 5.1 Dolby surround processor

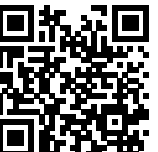

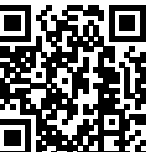

Designed especially for the AVH-P6600 DVD AV headunit, the DEQ-P6600 Digital Signal Processor brings powerful multi-channel audio processing to the system. It can also be combined with the DVH-P5000MP DVD/MP3 tuner. Either of these digital combinations can provide cinematic Dolby Digital/DTS multi-channel surround sound. With the DEQ-P6600's built-in Digital Signal Processor (DSP), the user can access an array of powerful tuning adjustments, such as the 3 x 3-band parametric equaliser, a highly flexible network set-up and Auto Time Alignment. These features allow the user to create a finely tuned sound stage according to personal preferences and the car's acoustics. Two optical inputs and 6 Hi-Volt pre-outs enable connection to external amplifiers. Additionally, a built-in 5-channel MOSFET 50 power amplifier drives the system.

Maximum Output Power 50 W x 5
MOSFET output section (-)

A MOSFET output section results in enhanced high-frequency range performance and improved linear response to signals. Its high-density circuit layout reduces line impedance in the circuit pattern. This eliminates switching noise and raises sound quality and performance. In addition, amplifier drive stability is maintained even during long, hard-driving listening sessions thanks to excellent thermal stability and circuit.
