Machine-specific tuned to work with stock fuel settings How this exhaust was designed LeoVince products are designed in their own dedicated R&D facility using advanced CAD/CAM technology. Every prototype is run extensively on the dyno and once approved is tested on the track under the most severe conditions. In many cases LeoVince R&D works hand-in-hand with manufacturer factory race teams for further development. How this exhaust was made LeoVince facilities are completely inclusive, including all aspects of production, stamping, welding, bending, and carbon fiber molding. To ensure legendary build quality, nothing is farmed out to subcontractors. LeoVince is dedicated to combining the most
