Your Wireless Network Router is the pivotal point of your wireless network. All PCs in your network equipped with a wireless network adapter (PC Card, PCI Card or USB Adapter) can communicate with each other via the router. You can obtain access to broadband internet via one subscription from all these PCs! Thanks to new Sitecom MIMO-XR Technology you are assured of wire- less transmission throughout your whole house! Regardless of whether you are up in the attic or downstairs in your living room, you can enjoy the freedom of wireless networking, surfing the net anywhere. Your connection will also be fast enough for wireless sharing of seriously large multimedia files such as digital music and movies because the wireless performance will be all through at 540 Mbps of no less than 125 Mbps. MIMO-XR is compatible with the existing IEEE 802.11g standard and can connect to the wireless router without any change and operation. Never before, you can share the wireless network with up to 25 PCs. The MIMO-XR PT function lets you share the wireless line to the internet use. It also provides virtual server and virtual DMZ functions to let your internal servers be accessed from the Internet.

 Wireless MIMO Access Point
 The wireless MIMO access point function can let your IEEE 802.11g wireless client devices access the Intranet through this router and provide throughput and coverage much more than normal 802.11g/b.
