You don't just apply to join our team and be a Cycadette, you audition. Genuine star power and an obsession with making guests happy are the minimum requirements to get you through the door, and if it sounds like we're asking a lot, it's because we offer plenty in return. You'll love being a Cycadette but you've got bills to pay as well, so we combine all the fun on offer with rates of pay and other benefits that are competitive and then some.

We never stop getting better and we want you to do the same, whether that means sampling different departments or moving up the career ladder. When you work for Cycas there's no such thing as good enough, only as good as you can be. Cycas never stop growing and developing, and neither will you.
