Bedrijfsomschrijving

For Unilever we're looking for a Artwork Production Specialist
Functieomschrijving

The primary purpose of this position is to manage the creation and approval of packaging artwork from design lock, through to commercially reproducible mechanical artwork and separations which are handed over to the printer in a timely manner. This person will be responsible for initiating and managing projects using the artwork management system, and also working within a multifunctional and sometimes multinational project team to deliver projects on time, in full. The position must interface with internal teams (such as Marketing, R&D etc) who provide master design files and pack content, and also external partners who deliver the work in the form of mechanical artwork, pack image albums and printed packaging. The scope of the role covers adaptive design, artwork, print management and digital image creation responsibilities. This position can be responsible for several brands and categories at the same time. This may be across market clusters or countries. There is no central time zone and therefore the position may have to work in several different environments. The individual must also coordinate multiple external vendors, also possibly within other time zones. This will require interaction with many departments to manage all projects as per the artwork process.
